HAVAS

London, 22nd—The unexpected appointment of General Caprivi to the post of German Chancellor has caused surprise all over Europe. The leading papers of the Continent say a flattering farewell to Prince Bismarck, while expressing their belief that his withdrawal from political life is merely temporary.

Paris, 22nd—It is said that M. Develle, Minister of Agriculture, will next week lay before Parliament a Bill to protect that branch of industry.

Lisbon, 22nd—Diplomatic relations with England are getting into their normal groove, owing to the denial of the occupation of Shire by the British.

Berlin, 22nd (evening)—It is said that Count Hatzfeld will be the new Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The Reichstag will probably be opened on April 14th.

GALVESTON.

Berlin, 22nd—The Prince of Wales arrived here yesterday and was received ceremoniously by the Emperor and a great number of Princes. The bands played the German and English National Anthems, and the Prince was escorted to the Castle by a squadron of cavalry. The Emperor wore an English dragoon uniform, and the Prince that of a German General. At the banquet in the evening, General Caprivi, as Chancellor, sat facing the Prince of Wales. Counts Molke and Waldersee were present. The Emperor drank to the Prince's health in an affectionate toast, declaring that the army and navy were proud that Queen Victoria had made him (the Emperor) an Admiral of the navy that had created the greatness of England. With infinite pleasure he saw the representative of the British army wearing the uniform of the regiment of Bluecher, who with Wellington, had mixed German and English blood on the battle field. He hoped that their navies and armies would be able to keep united in the cause of Peace.

The Prince of Wales replied in German and thanked the Emperor, stating that he had already telegraphed to the Queen describing the brilliant reception given to him. He hoped to have the pleasure of meeting the Emperor again, not only in Berlin, but in England.

London, 22nd—A telegram from Berlin to the Times says:—"It is a notable feature of the crisis that there has been no organized effort of public opinion to induce Prince Bismarck to withdraw his resignation. This may be attributed to the fact that the country considered it useless to attempt to persuade him to change his resolve. It is also known that the young Emperor has bound himself to follow the foreign policy of the man who has secured peace for Germany for twenty years to come.

PROVERBIAL CRISIS.

The more we consider the many elements that make up the crisis, the more we are struck with the effect of the side-lights and the more we find the subject fruitful in suggestions. Every one has his views and his remedies for the difficulties of the situation. But the most remarkable feature in the current, every day comments on the crisis is the frequent repetition of proverbs and aphorisms. People, in very desperation, appear to be dosing themselves with proverbial philosophy. Like Socrates, every one is speaking in proverbs, and wherever you go you meet some one who wisely observes that the darkest cloud has a silver lining, although that argentine fringe is often only visible through Dr. Pangloss's telescope. The average Argentine politician, after a strong dose of the proverbial philosophy, tells us that "no hay mal de que bien no venga." From the solitude of his study, free from Bolsa prejudices, without a cent in his pocket, and with nothing but the Bucolics of Virgil or the odes of Horace to enlighten him on finances, the classic scholar mutters some thing about "qualis pater, talis filius," while some gay Gaul pounces upon a diametrically opposed and equally true aphorism and tells you "a père avare, fils prodigue." The wonderful elasticity of proverbial philosophy when brought to bear on the most trivial question has often been observed, but never has it appeared so striking as in the throes of the present crisis, when every one defines the situation with some apposite aphorism.

Minister Pacheco, no doubt, has often been profoundly impressed with the wisdom of the saying that we must never put off till to-morrow what we can do to-day, and often, perhaps, under the influence of this proverbial wisdom, he has constituted himself in permanent sitting, as Lord Mayor Seeber would say, to examine the situation and devise a remedy, when Monsieur Walls or some other pre-eminent financier whispers, "La nuit porte conseil." The wisdom of this remark is equally striking, and the result is the Minister, who understands French as much as finances, orders his carriage, catches his train, passes a peaceful night in his quinta in San Isidro, and rises the next morning with fresh views and a fresher appetite. And no man yet has ever been known to be a pessimist after a good breakfast. Even that great, austere moralist, La Rochefaucault, who in his hungry moments lashed the manners of the day with his stinging aphorisms, felt quite philanthropic and his heart expanded with warm emotion and sentiment after a good dinner. The influence of a copious meal, like the influence of marriage on the mind of a man, is another deep problem, too deep, in fact, for superficial examination. However, while on this mysterious subject, we must call attention to the remarkable circumstance that although it has never been openly admitted, it has always been tacitly understood, that hunger chastens and strengthens the judgment. Instances of this noteworthy fact crop up even in contemporaneous history. Look at the National fasts proclaimed in the United States, in moments of great financial and social tribulation. There is an ocean of philosophy under the surface of the foregoing historical instances, and who will dare to say whether the abolition of fasting has not aggravated a situation which the traditional observance of Lent might not only have improved but perhaps radically cured.

A wide field for reflection is opened up when we consider the effects of hunger as stamped on the pages of history, the revolutions that have been caused, the conquests that have been prompted, by the lack of food or the desire to secure some succulent dish. These, trivial as they may seem, are great causes, and there may be some connection between a juicy "puchero" and the preponderance of paper money. Let us take the case of the Finance-Minister: After a good breakfast he lights a ministerial cigar of extra flavor, and his reflective mind, stimulated by the expansion of warm sentiments, dwells on the melancholy fact that we cannot all afford to smoke good cigars, because they are too dear. If the effects of the good breakfast could continue, he would outpeel the great Peel and abolish all import duties so that we could all smoke good cigars. Or he finds a trip in the train so bracing that he wonders more people do not travel. Why? Because they have not enough money, and his mind ruminates on the advisability of making a fresh issue of paper, to enable people to travel more and give the railway companies something to do. Such are the dangers of a logical turn of mind after a good breakfast.

And we have only just recovered from a meat crisis. We all remember the loud cries and the deep groans of misery two years ago, when Dr Crespo was almost puzzled to death. "Misfortunes never come single spies," as the saying goes, and there was a cattle crisis in the province about the same time. Cows were selling in Azul at two dollars a head. Ex-Lord Mayor Torcuato de Alvear, now lost in the solitude of private life and of a magnificent palace, thundered forth an explanation which no one understood and a remedy which no one cared to adopt. Those crises disappeared slowly, silently, imperceptibly, like a bad cold, which overpowers you, weakens you, steeps you in despondency, and then goes off with a cough; like the soul of the hero "cum gemitu fugit." All thought the farmers were ruined, and now we know that they and their cattle have been living in clover. The fasting of the lower classes, no doubt, hastened the solution of those crises. May not the present financial difficulties disappear as stealthily? That is the question which everyone to-day is solving with proverbs.

"Un clavo saca otro" is a threadbare saying here. It applies to everything financial, commercial or social. It was specially invented for the Plate. It explains our free banking system, and our "curso forzoso." It lies at the bottom of every Government measure, and it is becoming as familiar to the tympanum of the British ear as "mañana," "empresitto," "obras de salubridad," or any other calamitous expression. At this moment it looks unpleasantly like an explanation of the sale of the Western Railway, about which the La Plata Government are so coquettishly disputing at present. First they would, and then they wouldn't, and now they want the fair province to give its opinion. "It is never too late to mend," but ill applies in this case.

THE NEW RUSSIAN LOAN.

London, Feb. 22.

"The new Russian loan is the fourth issued in 14 months", says the Economist; all 4 per cent loans, viz.:

	Amount, £.	Issued at
Dec. 1888	20,000,000	86½
March, 1889	28,000,000	90
May, 1889	50,000,000	91½
Feb. 1890	14,000,000	93
Total	112,000,000

These loans, however, do not argue an increase of public debt, since they have been devoted to the conversion of old debts bearing heavier interest. This explains why each successive loan commanded a higher price on the market. The proceeds of the four amounted to £101,300,000, and as the interest amounts to £4,480,000 the 4 per cents come to be in reality 4½ per cents. It is, moreover, to be observed that there was a loss of £10,700,000 in the issue, which Russia will have to pay the boudholders without having received it. This system of giving £100 bonds for £90 in cash is contrary to all good finance, but it is unhappily the rule with Argentine as well as Russian loans.

Russia is a poor country, with an enormous debt, and as the Finance Minister must incur blindly whatever expenditure is ordered by the Czar, the empire is periodically out-at-elbows. In 16 years down to 1888 the increase of debt was 412 millions sterling, or 26 millions per annum, a sum equal to one-third of the imperial revenue. This shows the reckless way in which the finances have been handled. Bankruptcy would probably have ensued long ago but that Dr. Bunge and his predecessors made frequent use of the printing press to turn out bushels of shinplasters.

Was the the Minister short of cash? A new turn of the wheel poured out a shower of paper-roubles. This was a new form of public debt, but bore no interest, and Dr. Bunge's friends were so delighted at his easy manner of increasing the public fortune that one thousand millions of roubles were added to the currency in 20 years. Russian paper-money rose as follows:—

	Value in £ sterling.
1852	22,000,000
1862	61,000,000
1872	104,000,000
1882	161,000,000

Such liberality in printing shin-plasters had, however, one drawback, that the notes lost much of their value. Gold rose to 65 per cent premium, and the losses fell mainly on the unfortunate moujiks or peasants. Dr. Bunge besought of the Czar to cut down the expenses of Court and army, and declared that it was impossible to go on for ever "watering the stock" as regarded the currency. Accordingly 300 million roubles were called in and solemnly cremated as enemies to the public welfare, and by December, 1888, the total outstanding issue was only 1300 million roubles, or £132,000,000 sterling, the paper rouble being now worth 60 kopecks instead of 100, its nominal value.

In Dec. 1888 the Russian debt was as follows:—

	Millions £ stg.
Foreign	216
Internal bonds	408
Paper-money	132
Total	756

One-third of the amount is represented by useful works, the rest having been either wasted in campaigns or frittered away in one way or other. The accounts shew thus:

	Millions £
Railways and telegraphs	170
Redemption of serfs	85
Campaigns, &c	501
	756

Russia is a big country, with 90 millions of people, and it may seem that it matters little what the debt may amount to, but finances are the real foundation of a government. The Czar, or one of his predecessors, considered the lives and properties of his subjects so much his own that when the British Ambassador made some remarks on the matter (they were sitting in an apartment on the 3rd floor) the Czar called in the sentry, bid him open the window and jump out, which the man did, being killed on the spot. What use for political economy in such a country?

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF CHRIST CHURCH, STANLEY.

On the 6th inst. the foundation, or corner, stone of Christ Church, Stanley, in the Falkland Islands, was laid by the Bishop, His Excellency the Governor taking part in the proceedings, and declaring, after three blows with the mallet, that the stone was duly and truly laid.

The need of a church is unquestioned. There is literally nothing more than a service room at present in Stanley for members of the Church of England; the residents there are some eight hundred. What has been questioned is the character of the building. Should it be a temporary affair of wood, or iron? or should it be built of brick or stone? A stone edifice was after many pros and cons determined on. And, considering the importance of the Islands as a British possession, and the See of a Bishop, whose sphere of administration extends over the South American Continent, it seems natural and right that the Church there erected should have a character of permanence and dignity. Nor should funds for this purpose be wanting, if English Churchmen in S. America recognise the claim upon them. It is true the islands are not actually within their sight; but the bishop who derives his title from them has for twenty years ministered to the English Church congregations on the Continent, and is a stranger to no one who wishes for his services.

At any moment, too, the at present latent importance of the Falkland Islands might spring into notice, both from an imperial and mercantile point of view; for should war unhappily break out between any of the European or other Powers, and should England be mixed up in it, a coaling station in these southern seas would be of vital consequence. The position of the islands for this purpose is, we must allow, admirable, bearing in mind the vast amount of trade passing along the route from Australia and the west coast of South America, and converging near Cape Horn.

But in years of peace and commercial security the Falkland Islands still have their favours to confer upon the outside world; for year after year vessels carrying the merchandise of many nations put into Port Stanley under stress of weather, and seamen in distress find there shelter and hospitality.

In many respects, therefore, it is plain that the indifference to their welfare, too generally felt by those who have not visited the islands is far from just, and that a claim on their behalf can be fairly established upon the English-speaking communities in South America.

At a time, then, when a movement is on foot for the erection of a church in Stanley, which will be at once the parish church, or pro-cathedral, we invite the attention of our readers to the fact that the foundation stone has been laid, and that the building is steadily advancing.

The architect is Sir Arthur Blomfield, A.R.A., which is a guarantee for beauty of design and thoroughness of work, The trusted foreman of works, sent out by Sir Arthur, is Mr. Vinnell, under whose personal direction the plans will be carried out.

Much of the material is still on its way from England, the vessel in which it was dispatched having had a collision at the Nore, and being thereby detained for awhile. It is hoped, however, that by February next, if not earlier, the church—(called after the cathedral at Canterbury, Christ Church)—will be ready for consecration, and for the celebration of Divine worship.

The occasion of laying the corner stone was favored by the weather, a great matter in those storm-swept regions, and the whole community made holiday. The vessels in the harbor were decked in bright colors, and on every flagstaff on shore banners waved in the gentle wind and brilliant sunshine.

Old and young entered heartily into proceedings which affected so intimately the present and future interests of the colony. It is not to be supposed that even in such a monotonous place as Stanley opinions are all of one hue, or that religious convictions are solid and uniform. We have our differences, and enjoy them sorrowfully. But, if ever Stanly presented a united front and showed itself to advantage as an English community, it was on March 6th, when the inhabitants rallied round the foundations of the Church, which is, we trust, to be a centre of strength and gladness to many generations.

His Excellency, the Governor, Thomas Kerr, C. M. G., although in delicate health was, as we have said, present on the occasion, and after the stone was laid, said: "I rejoice that by God's providence I am able to be present "and take part in this ceremony. It is "nearly eight years since I and many who "are here present met in the building "which then stood upon this spot, and "joined our dear friend the Bishop in "forming an association to provide "funds for the erection of a suitable edi-"fice for the worship of God.

"The progress of the work, like that of "most great works, has been slow; but "although slow we are witnesses this day "that it has been sure; and from the en-"ergy which is now being shown in carry-"ing on the work, and the heartiness of all "who are engaged in it, I am not with-"out hope that I may be enabled to join "with them in returning thanks to Al-"mighty God for his many mercies and "blessings within the walls of this sacred "building."

The Bishop in a brief address mentioned some of the leading benefactors of the work, stating that the very first contribution to the church building fund came from distressed British seamen.

Altogether on the Island a sum of £3000 has been contributed. In addition rather more than £3000 has been raised elsewhere, of which £600 came from the Christian Knowledge Society in London. It was calculated that the above would be sufficient to complete the Church; but it is already only too plain that at least £1500 more will be required. Is it too much to ask English residents in the River Plate to come forward and give a generous support to this work?

Preceding the ceremony of laying the foundation stone a special service took place, after which the Bishop and Chaplain, the Governor, and colonial officers, followed by the congregation and choir, proceeded in order to the site of the Church. Hymn: "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung on the way distinctly and stoutly.

Immediately after the ceremony the children by invitation proceeded to the Government Paddock, accompanied by a concourse of their elders, and entered heartily into all kinds of games. Afterwards some 240 children sat down in the Assembly room to tea and cake, etc., finishing the day with great glee and gladness.

VON—V.—VAN.

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Dear Sir,

Could you give me any information with regard to the social value of "von" "V" or "van," so oft preceding German names? Are they identical or are they different stages in social rank in Germany? To Englishmen in general the distinction or difference is, as a rule, a riddle, and I feel sure that in giving the key to same you will oblige many readers in general, and particularly

Yours
Veritas

B. Ayres, March 19th 1890.

[ED. NOTE:—The "Von" and "V." before proper names, if we are not mistaken, is a prerogative of the German nobility, but we think that commoners now-a-days use it quite as freely. The "V." is merely an abreviation of "Von." With regard to the "Van:" So far as our knowledge goes, it is essentially Dutch, and may imply noble extraction in the Low Countries but does not in Germany, where care is taken not to confound the "Van" with the "Von" or the "V." We appeal to our German and Dutch readers to enlighten Veritas on the subject which, being one of rank and etiquette, is of personal interest to a great many people who live in blissful ignorance of such social distinctions.

Railway Items

We could learn nothing new about the sale of the Western Railway yesterday. Our colleague, the Censor, urges Governor Paz to close with the bid, and we presume H. E. will do so in a few days.

A Pacific Railway engine was severely damaged the other day, owing to water having run out in the boiler, and the Minister is decided not to guarantee the repairs; that is, H.E. will not countenance the insertion of the cost of repairs amongst the items upon which the Government pays guarantee. The cost of repairs is estimated at $1,500.

The latest suggestion about the Western Railway is that the La Plata Government should have a third share in the concern. The object being that the Government should always have a voice in the management. The less the Government has to do with the line the better.

In the 26 days working of the Andine line by the National Railway Board it has given $36,000 receipts. The monthly working expenses are estimated at 20,000 dollars; so the surplus is a fair one. Dr. Araoz is trying to hire from Villalonga 60 wagons at 2 dollars per diem, to forward the enormous quantity of goods at the stations on the line.

Mr. A D. Jones has asked Government to formulate the bases of his contract for the construction of a railway from San Pedro (Province of B. Ayres) to Rosario de la Frontera (Salta).

The attention of the Home Minister was called to the fact that on the 29th October ult. Mr. Cuesta of San Antonio de Areco handed two letters containing money-orders and money to the "estafatero" of a train. The letters did not arrive at destination. The Postmaster General took up the case and he has discovered that the "estafatero," who was in league with one of the guards of the Western Railway, stole the letters.

Mr. Adolfo E. Carranza has requested Government to sign his contract for the construction of a railway from Tinogasta to Chile.

The East Argentine Railway is endeavoring to collect from the Government its guarantee (£62,105 s17 3d) for 1889.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Clerk of the Weather continued to cry like a child yesterday over the financial projects, and the city was turned into a quagmire and Slough of Despond. Wet feet and the financial projects were the topics of the day. Nobody seemed to have anything very new to say on either subject. The doctors fear a great increase of insanity if any more projects, public or private, to cure the crisis are concoc ed. As it is, a good many people are already half cracked trying to understand those already published.

The telegrams announcing a big deficit in the Banda Oriental Budget cause some surprise, as it was generally thought that money matters down there were in tolerable order. It appears, however, that our neighbors are to some extent in the same boat as ourselves, minus shinplasters;

St. John's Anglican Church holds its annual excursion for the choir and Sunday School on Tuesday next. The children will gather in St. John's Church at a quarter to eight, and will proceed to the Tigre by the train leaving the Central Station at 8.15. Those living in Belgrano will join the party in this train at 8.40; and those coming from San Martin will leave by the 7.0 train on the Rosario line for Belgrano, and join the party at the Belgrano Station on the Norte line at 8.40. We wish them a very pleasant day.

The excruciating character of the times is nowhere more observable than in the terrific fall in the price of horseflesh, which is now hard to sell for as many hundreds as thousands of dollars were paid for it a few months ago. All the auctions of horses are terrible fiascos. The city cobblers are now all as busy as bees patching up old boots, as those who formerly took the tram have now to walk.

Promotion, marriage and the big prize ($20,000) in the Montevidean Lottery have all come together as smiles of Fortune to Mr. Garrido, the popular cashier of the Provincial Bank.

The Argentine Yacht Club are moving heaven and earth to get Balbin's map of the Delta of the Parana. One would imagine these amateur navigators should know all about the Delta. However, the map is a good thing to have.

The "Asociacion de Propietarios" want Government to extend the term allowed for completion of the domiciliary drains.

An organ recital will be given at the English Church, Calle 25 de Mayo, on Wednesday the 26th. inst by the talented organist, Mr. E. Frank Barnes. The recital promises to be most interesting, the programme consisting of unhackneyed works by Guilmant, Batiste, Mendelsohn, Bennett, Gritton and Lefebure Wely. All lovers of the Emperor of instruments should be present.

A private race meeting will take place at the Cabana Lama, Marcos l'az, on the the 11th of April. There are events for ponies, thoroughbreds, mestizos and criollos; and as the prizes are very valuable good entries and fields should result. Programmes can be obtained at the Hipodromo Nacional, where all entries must be made by 9 p. m. on the

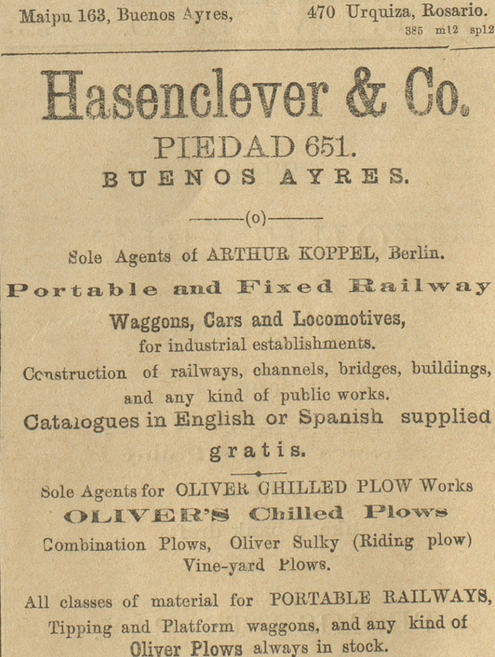
The "Toronto" Differential Gear Alfalfa-Mower,

The most modern Invention.



Guaranteed the simplest, strongest and lightest draught machine introduced.

NOTE—The driving arm of this famous machine is only 7 inches long, and consecuently not liable to twist, as often happens in machines of other makers.

Unsolicited Testimonial.

La Valdesia,
Cachari, F. C. S. March 11, 1890.

Messrs. MOORE & TUDOR, Buenos Ayres.

Dear Sirs.—

Yesterday and to-day I gave the "Toronto Mower" I bought from you some months ago a fair trial.

I am highly pleased with it and consider it one of the best systems (if not the best) of all those that have come under my notice. It works remarkably easily and does not make half the noise of other systems known to me.

I can cut a square of Alfalfa in 3 hours and a half without pressing my horses.

The machine is certainly all you told m it was.

I am, Dear Sirs,

Yours truly,

(Sig) E. Lagier.

LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE

In consequence of Imitations of THE WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE which are calculated to deceive the Public, Lea and Perrins have to request that Purchasers see that the Label on every bottle bears their Signature thus—

People up from the Boca report quite a flood down there and all the "potreros" facing the Darsena covered with water.

The news on 'Change this evening about the special committee named by Government to revise the Bolsa statutes is that none of them will accept the post.

Some orders arrived by telegram to-day from Europe to sell gold Cedulas to arrive, but we believe as yet they have not been sold.

Exchange looks firmer than ever, and bills, we believe, were passed to-day on London at 48; it seems there are few takers, and a large amount of bank bills has been offering and passed. Sterling is more offered than francs.

According to the special commissioner's report, there are over 4½ millions square metres of land, valued at $174,826, to be expropriated on the Santa Rosa and Jujuy Railway.

The much-talked-of Committee of merchants, organized to urge on the Government the necessity of taking radical measures to improve the financial situation, approached the President of the Republic to-day and handed to H. E. the petition of the commercial body. The Committee withdrew highly satisfied with the assurances of H. E.

There was another Cabinet Council in the Government House to-day. The sitting was lengthy, and several new measures were mooted. On Monday these new measures will be made known to the public. People in the Government House appear somewhat alarmed at the turn in the affairs of the market.

At the second hour, although the business done in gold was comparatively small, the excitement was tremendous, as the quotations shot up for Monday and all other dates, showing an advance of over five points as compared with the closing prices of the first hour. Brokers reported the precious metal very scarce, and, as the demand kept up, rates advanced in jumps of two and three points, leaving the outside market aghast with surprise. It does, indeed, seem strange that in face of the heavy demands for the liquidation, gold should have fallen in the morning and then advanced at the second hour, when liquidation was closed and comparatively a bagatelle demand to be met. Such is, nevertheless, the state of the case. Cedulas completed the tale of woe by collapsing utterly, the O series dropping to 51 and the P to 50. We doubt if the market has ever had such a gloomy outlook to confront, as stocks were veritably on their last legs. Very little was done in National Bank shares and Catalinas, which recovered a trifle, due to an apparent effort to keep up the quotations.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—

We note the following movement at the La Plata port:—

The Lamport and Holt line s.s. Garrick 1598 tons register, steamed away from the wharves of the Muelles and Deposits Company, drawing 24 feet of water and loaded with 12,283 bags of maize and 9990 bags of wheat for Liverpool and Antwerp.

The s.s. Bellova, 1635 tons register, having discharged her cargo for the "Obras de Salubridad de Buenos Aires" and Nelson's Frozen Meat Factory near La Plata, left yesterday for Buenos Aires.

The s.s. Spindrift is now discharging 4000 tons for the same people

The Lamport and Holt s.s. J. W. Taylor, 1815 tons register, under command of Capt. John Cook, arrived yesterday, and the firm of E. T. Pulestou is shipping by her, for account of a leading export house in this city, 25,000 bags of maize for Liverpool; and the same firm has just loaded for the same port 22,000 bags of maize and 140 bags of barley per s.s. Hildegarde.

The Italian barque Ida is now loading 9000 bags of maize; agents, Lanusse and Menlez.

The National Government is about to sign a decree allowing goods to be dispatched in the Custom-house at the La Plata port and sent on by rail to Catalinas, thus avoiding breakages, loss of time, and expense, and we learn that the Muelles and Deposits Company of La Plata and the Catalinas Company, in combination with the Great Southern and Ensenada Railway Companies, have already agreed upon a through rate between the two ports, which will allow shippers and importers to the same cost to send by rail direct to and from La Plata port all goods, and avoid the delays and losses incurred in 'lanchas,' etc., etc., which are now employed in our port here. The first vessel to take advantage of these facilities will be the steamer Stamboul, of the Piaggio line, which will arrive in the La La Plata port at the beginning of April with full cargo from Europe for Buenos Aires and 1500 immigrants.

Yesterday there arrived in La Plata port 46 wagons with 5541 bags of maize for Messrs. Altgelt, Puleston, Perazo and Unzué é hijos.

The steamer Umberto I. will leave March 26th for Barcelona, Genoa and Naples

The steamer Galicia will leave Montevideo March 23 for Rio Janeiro, Pernambuco, Lisbon, Bordeaux, Plymouth and Liverpool.

The concern wound up by resolution of the shareholders is the Credito General Argentino and not the Banco de Credito Real of which Dr Lamarca is president. The Credito General was so little known to fame that many parties were under the idea today that it was the bank to which allusion was made.

According to advices from the camp the rain has been general.

The committee named by decree to inquire into the working of the Bolsa and its effects is composed of Drs. M Obarrio, A E Malaver, A Alcorta and J A Garcia, and Messrs Rufino Varela and B Roldan. The inquiry and measures to be adopted will, of course, have premordial reference to transactions in gold.

Nothing fresh was known on 'Change to-day about the sale of the Western Railway, but the matter is considered a foregone conclusion in favor of the Heudersou proposal, since the Provincial Government is so terribly hard up that it cannot well afford to delay much longer. Nothing definite has, however, been yet decided.

The retirement from the Bolsa of Don Bruno Quintana was announced to-day. Mr. Quintana figured on 'Changs for the last 25 years as one of our most successful speculators, and retires now on a large fortune.

Mr. F. Macdonald has left for Rosario to take charge of the Waterworks up there, of which he is manager.

We see by late exchanges that the Equitable Life Assurance Co. is introducing reforms in its system of issuing policies which will commend it to every assurer. For months the officers of the Society have been comparing their latest policy forms with the various policies issued by the other companies. They have had conferences with their agents, and have discussed together, point by point, every clause in every contract of assurance worthy of attention. They have taken time for study, and have been deliberate in reaching their conclusions; but having come to a decision they have been prompt in action, and have made an announcement which is a gratifying as it is startling. They now offer a new policy, which is simplicity itself. Like a bank draft, it is a simple promise to pay. There are no conditions whatever on the back of the new policy of the Equitable unless the assured prefer to have endorsed upon it a list of the advantages which the policy grants.

The "Inez" lies sunk in the outer roads of this port, about 7 miles from the shore, and her cargo consists of about 400 tons of rough stone in blocks of various weights. She lies upright, and her hull, according to the latest report from the divers, has suffered no damage whatever, and her engines are in perfect condition, only requiring cleaning when raised.

The tug "Inez" was built some nine months since, and is 320 tons gross and 178 register. Her dimensions are as follows, viz: 132 feet long over all, 26ft2 beam, and 8 feet 3 hold. Her engines of 300 indicated horse power, are built by Fleming and Ferguson, of Paisley, Scotland, being quadruple expansion. She is schooner rigged, and her cost in England last year was over £7,000 stg.

The above steam lighter will be sold "al contado y sin reclamo," and all further particulars can be obtained from the auctioneer.
